

5901 Uptown/Downtown Jacket:

Our great looking, modern jacket is a quick knit and great fun! The Downtown version (left) is Merino 12, with a Fern lined hood and cuff for a touch of luxury.

The Uptown version is Neat Stuff mixed with metallic Elise for a touch of glitz. The look of Wild Stuff, but without eyelash. Boxy shaping without too much bulk can be closed with either a zipper or buttons; the sleeves could easily be lengthened.

Another modern, edgy shape:

a cropped swingy jacket with full, belled sleeves. Deep cuffs and an abbreviated collar in Fern give the feel of fur, but no animals were harmed!

5903: Left: Hand Dyed Magic! Patty Nance has designed this ingenious unisex pullover featuring Symphony with its long, clear, color repeats. The pattern walks you clearly through the process of establishing each color block so that it will form a neat checkerboard naturally. Four color styles will look like ours, which is Senegal; three or five color runs will have staggered colors rather than a checkerboard (also fabulous!). Shown here in sandwashed solid #106 olive.

Sizes P through XL:

Our shapely peplum jacket took its inspiration from Oscar de la Renta! Worked from sleeve to sleeve in Half Linen Stich, a Linen Stich waisband draws in to hug the body, while a Garter Stich peplum is defined through short rows. Magnificent Merino Mia is used in multi-colored Coral Reef, then held double strand with the more tonal Copper Penny, Plum Dandy, Blue Lagoon, and Moss.

Kits fit up to a size XL, and come in several variations: Light Neutrals, Dark Neutrals, Deep Autumn, Jewels, Embers and as shown.

5905: Go Glam! An alternative to the highly colored version of Ooh, la Oscar!, we offer a variation that pairs Merino Mia in Blue Lagoon with Elise in Moss. Elise's sparkling gold (or silver, depending on the color you select) kisses the deep teals of Blue Lagoon, offering a seductive soft hand that is structured by Merino Mia. Slightly longer and narrower sleeves and a simple Stockinette Stich body are still enhanced with a Linen Stich waistband and Garter Stich peplum.
