A simple gradient, right and above right, looks oh, so rich and lush when worked in chevron stitch. The eccentric pattern allows the two wrap legs to bias, offering a gentle v that sits nicely on your shoulders. Gradient Gray, right and Gradient Plus Mallard with Raspberry, above. 1 skein of contrast outlines the shades for even more interest and visual depth.

Brigitte Reydam's clever take on chevrons separates the chevron repeats with simple runs of stockinette. The stockinette bands decrease as you work your way up the body, creating a full deep swing body that fits neatly around the neck and shoulders. Two packs makes a long jacket with plenty left over for a cowl or scarf; one pack augmented with a couple of contrast skeins makes the short jacket.

A classically shaped tee with a pretty mock cable adds texture and style to a simple gradient shift. Set-in 3/4 sleeves enhance the abbreviated body length, and Merino Mia is light and soft enough to wear under a jacket for work.
